

about

eVent fabrics is globally recognized as a leader in air permeable and waterproof membranes and laminates designed to keep you dry and comfortable in the widest range of conditions. eVent offers innovative and sustainable product solutions through a flexible, customer-focused and competitively priced global supply chain.

technology

Waterproof – Built on the premise that waterproof/breathable should also mean dry and comfortable, our waterproof laminates and glove inserts feature patented Direct Venting technology to instantly vent excess heat and water vapor. From high air permeability to ultimate protection, this collection meets the widest range of all-weather needs.

Windproof – Specifically designed for activities that make you sweat, our windproof laminates use patented air permeable technology to let heat and water vapor out while providing a windproof and water-resistant barrier. The line features our innovative DVstretch technology, providing the perfect balance of stretch comfort and all-weather performance.

Professional – Built for users who can't change their plans because of the weather, this laminate collection includes our ultra-durable bi-component membrane and two air permeable membranes. This collection features high denier, durable face fabrics to provide the ultimate barrier of protection.

Footwear – From air permeable to ultra-protective Direct Diffusion technology, our footwear laminates are trusted by brands around the globe. Our air permeable membranes provide dry comfort while our Protective membrane combines all-weather protection with defense against chemicals and hazardous substances.

Bio – Waterproof, windproof and planet positive, our bio-based membrane is sourced from the highly renewable castor bean and blended with virgin nylon to create a light, tough and flexible membrane. Our Bio collection includes an assortment of standard and recycled laminates that combine high breathability with degrees of stretch comfort.

supply chain

During our 20-year history, we have developed an international supply chain and exclusive partnerships with some of the world's leading lamination providers. Our strategic partnerships allow us to provide brands with a versatile selection of laminates, development flexibility and speed to market. With partners strategically located in China, South Korea, Taiwan, Vietnam, Europe, and North America, we help brands find the right product in the right place.

why

brand – Recognized globally as an all-weather technology leader, our platform includes an array of tools to illustrate the technology and create value for your brand.

commitment – After years of navigating corporate constraints, we are now industry-owned and operated, part of a committed group with global textile and performance fabrics experience.

flexibility – Considered one of the most flexible technology providers in the industry, our program is backed by an exclusive network of global supply chain partners that allows us to introduce innovative material solutions and partner with brands on exclusive developments.

quality – eVent was created to meet the industry's highest performance standards and help brands develop products that provide years of all-weather protection. From our membranes to our laminates, our products are rigorously tested to withstand the toughest conditions.

service – Backed by a leadership team with more than 150 years of collective industry experience, we partner with brands throughout the development process by providing support and category expertise.

sustainability – From the beginning, eVent has engineered technology that is built to last. To complement our Direct Venting product line and meet the market's evolving needs, we have introduced a durable new bio-based technology that's derived from the highly renewable castor bean.