

HeiQ collaboration combats insulation overload

Written by Chris Remington

Published: 28 November 2018

MUNICH - Swiss manufacturer HeiQ has partnered with Australian innovator XEFCO to launch HeiQ XReflex, an aluminised textile coating that is able to reflect body heat back to the wearer to retain warmth.

The innovation, which is the focus of a collaborative exhibit at this year's Performance Days trade show, allows manufacturers to minimise garment bulk by utilising just half of conventional insulation.